I have read several posts on StackOverflow and Google but I can't seem to make it work properly. I have an API that requires a key to be sent to it but I don't know how to pass it to the API when the user is redirected to the app. I have a basic plunkr set up. How can I send the key to the server when the user is redirected to my app? Note: I already have a method that will retrieve an API key for the user if they don't have one (invalidateKey()) but I can't seem to pass it to my app when they are redirected. plunkr A: 2d92ce491b
