PCVARUS is an add-on for the movie EQ which claims to give good'sound quality'. This is somewhat of an exaggeration, the main improvement is a "S-log" curve, which is designed to make everything sound a little more balanced. The most interesting feature is the option to 'apply the S-log curve' to the movies you're watching. However, this just turns the movies into a boring, flattened mess, it didn't really add anything to the sound quality. FilesRunMe is a (

What's New in the Movie Color Enhancer?

This software comes as a packaged software, however, users will also be able to download the manual of the program. For that, they need to buy the pc game which costs 50 bucks. They can also go online to get the manual. The picture can be enhanced using up to eight color enhancement parameters. It has presets for a variety of settings like over-saturated colors, under-saturated colors, desaturated colors, etc. It has an intuitive interface, so users can easily use it. If you do not like the results which you got from the application, then you can try to fix them by just sending your picture and a zip file of the user configuration profile (nothing else) to the customer support and having it fixed for the next release. This software is made to enhance your picture for your video file.
