The registration process is a quick, easy process .Q: Charting on a Graphics3D object I'm trying to get to grips with Mathematica's new Charting functionality. I need to display some 3D data on a plane, and have successfully managed to implement a basic pie chart, and now am trying to add a second layer to the graphic where I can add labels. Basically, this is what I'd like to happen: The labels may or may not be plotted with the data, and I may or may not be able to add text to the pie slices. I can obviously add labels to a Graphics object, however the Graphics3D version renders correctly (as far as I can see), yet no label is present. Here is a picture of what I have so far: Here is what I'd like to have: As far as I can tell the main difference is that the charting implementation has "splitted" the graphic into separate Graphics3D objects, yet the only difference between the two is that one is rendered with ShowCoordinateGrid, and one is not. Any ideas? EDIT The chart looks correct, this is the chart without coordinate grid: However, I need to add text labels to the pie slices, and I cannot get this to work. The following code produces an empty Graphics object. Graphics3D[{{{Style["Question 1", Opacity[0.4], FaceForm[], EdgeForm[Black], Cuboid[{0, 0, 0}, {0.5, 0.5, -2}], FaceForm["Black", GrayLevel[0.5]], Opacity[0.4]}, {Specularity[White, 20], EdgeForm[Black], FaceForm[White], Cuboid[{0, 0, 0}, {0.5, 0.5, -2}], FaceForm["Black", GrayLevel[0.5]], Specularity[White, 20 3da54e8ca3
